

Embedded

Detritus

An incision leads to the future of the new world

A mark buried deep under the skin and flesh

Will divide and distinguish man

Signatures implanted on the hands and forehead

Re occurrence of modern times and scriptures

Testament to holy doctrines written in vital blood

In the extent all will hold something very similarly

And accordingly all will bear his name

With the distinct and original number of his signature

In a new world with suppressing technology

Lacerations lead to codes embedded in blood

Streams beneath the flesh

Currencies fuse together to form a solitary

And overruling capital

Money evolves into cryptic letters and numbers

That flow through the net

A conflagration set to diminish papered riches

Depleting its masterdom

No longer capable of enslaving the likes of human kind

From only presenting itself as a form of an object

Fragments of ash flow through the atmospheres currents

Onlookers breathe and inhale what they once worshiped

The demons solution, a new world order
