Hey Tonight

18

I know it's late, it's the lonely hour
But I've seen your window and I've knocked on your door
There's no need to hide I'm a love lost disaster
And sooner or later you're gonna find out just what I'm here afterHey, tonight say that you still love me
The way that you always did before
Hey tonight say the fire is still burning
And in the morning pretend we don't see the ashes on the floorThere's blood on these streets I know that I'm losing
My heart's been left open and I'm falling away
I know that I could I could change if I have to
But I've been here so long I think I've learned to like it this wayInto the ocean and with no light I'm sinking this ship tonight
I'm going down fast won't you hold on tight
Don't turn on the lights, don't look out from inside
Because I know how this ends and I just can't stand it this way
