Suckers

Knut

This one is for all the suckers who still believe in love, shut up
Let me say it, oh fine, this what do I say, ohHey everybody I've got somethin' to tell
It's what I learned from relationship hell
Lust turns to disgust a heart of gold into rust
A soft touch to a slap in the face, it gets old and it goes awayThis one's for all the suckers who still believe in love
This one's for you
This one's for all the suckers who still believe in love
This one's for youIt never works but we keep tryin' like fools
Learning and breaking the rules
At first you're excited then you're less than delighted
By the end you want them to drop dead it can't last, it's gone so fastThis one's for all the suckers who still believe in love
This one's for you
This one's for all the suckers who still believe in love
This one's for youThis song is brought to you and heard by all the suckers
Who still believe in love, this one's for youThis one's for all the suckers who still believe in love
This one's for you
This one's for all the suckers who still believe in love
This one's for youThis one's for you
This one's for you
This one's for you
This one's for you
This one's for youOh sugar buns, yes, this one's for all the suckers who still believe in love
This one's for you
