Into Your Garden

The Veer Union

Before the tide has come and gone
I'll make you mine 'til the end of time
Before the night has turned to dawn
I'll make it right into the lightWhy are you still running away?
Why are you still running away?
Don't run from meJust hold on now, give me just a second to say
You've dug yourself so deep inside me
Try now, bury me before you believe
I'm not the seed you want me to bePlease let me into your garden
So I can feel you
Please let me into your garden
Just hold me in your armsCan these two hearts still beat as one?
Have your feelings gone to another one?
Have we become completely undone?
Can we walk into the setting sun?Why are you still running away?
Why are you still running away?
Don't run from meJust hold on now, give me just a second to say
You've dug yourself so deep inside me
Try now, bury me before you believe
I'm not the seed you want me to bePlease let me into your garden
So I can feel you
Please let me into your garden
Just hold me in your armsWhy are you still running away?
Why are you still running?
Why are you still running away?Please let me into your garden
So I can feel you
Please let me into your garden
Just hold me in your arms, now
Give me just a second to say
Why are you still running away?
Hold on now, give me just a second to say
Why are you still running away?
Don't run from me
