Concerning The Way It Was

Haste The Day

The shadow cast upon me
Eyes sewn shut with the wires
Life bound by the lies that pierce my skin
Heart as cold as winter
Although there is no season
In this place of loneliness
I'm drowning every day the same
Locked at the ankles and plotting my escape
I've tried so hard to remind myself, life's only what I see
I thought I lost the meaning but I was only finding you
The years without the freedom
Tortured by words of reason
Convincing those around me
That life consists of nothing
And death, the end of all things
You've broken through the darkness
The shadow gone forever
And now I live and now there's hope
And now I live and now there's hope
And now I live and now there's hope
And now I live and now there's hope

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/