

Nothing Left To Say

Mint Condition

The words so strong
At least at the beginning
Who would've thought
There'd ever be an ending
We had it all
But it's like we've run into a wall
Now we try to talk
But just end up fighting
Try making up
But there's just no denying
Just ain't the same no more
What are we putting ourselves through all this for?
You talk and hear me
But you can't communicate
Cause you're not listening
Know these are two different things
Now I see what it means to have been
Blinded by the one you love so deeply, 'cause
The very things that make me love you
Are the things pushing me away now
In tears we stand here
With nothing left to say
And all I could do for you
I should've done before now
In tears we stand here
There's nothing left to say
You touched my heart and were so giving
Spirit so free, you threw me in it
I fell so deep I could not see my life
Without you in it
Girl you gave me alot of attention
Somehow the feeling turned
Into crazy possessive
It was always there
But I didn't look deeper
If I would've I'da seen the limits
You talk and hear me
But you can't communicate
Cause you're not listening

Know these are two different things
Now I see what it means to have been
Blinded by the one you love so deeply
I had my pride girl
And you had your pain
So deep inside you
Wanted to have your say
Irritated, frustrated and third baby
This is so confusing girl
I thought this was the one thing for sure, 'cause
And all I could do for you
We should have our words
To try and encourage
Us to find a way
The very things that make me love you
And all I could do for you
And all I could do for you
