Hello, Good Mornin'

Kinky Friedman

(kinky friedman, ronee blakley)Hello good mornin', it's suddenly dawnin'
That it's been awhile.
Last night I dreamed of a hollywood queen,
She was wearin' your smile.
But yesterday's gone, girl, it's only a song, girl,
It's hardly a crime.
Hello, good mornin', it's suddenly dawnin'
That you're still on my mind.Hello, good mornin', it's suddenly dawnin'
That I need a friend.
Hope it ain't wrong but I found myself longin'
To call you again.
What indian-giver took back that river
And that warm summer rain ?
Hello, good mornin', it's suddenly dawnin'
That I miss you again.Oh I know it's early, we're both in a hurry,
But it's already late.
I always loved you, I still dream of you,
But the car pool won't wait.
When I used to hold you, remember I told you
That you'd be someone,
Or was it cinderella tellin' rockefeller
That time is the money of love ?

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/