

Gravity (Live At the Basement)

The Superjesus

Although the temperature will rise and fall I'll take it all
I never thought that you would run
And I don't need a friend to tell me why, to tell me when
Hanging on to you I never thought I'm killing someone And I can tell you it's more
Now there's nothing in the way to show me
I didn't know you before
More than any other day it's only gravity
Gravity And now I'm occupied with anything to stay alive
Will you blame me when I'm gone
Given the company I'm certain of my specialty
Hanging on to you I never thought I'm killing someone And I can tell you it's more
Now there's nothing in the way to show me
I didn't know you before
More than any other day it's only gravity Never thought I'm killing someone Never thought I'm killing someone
Never thought I'm killing someone And I can tell you it's more
Now there's nothing in the way to show me
I didn't know you before
More than any other day it's only
More than any other day it's only
More than any other day it's only
More than any other day it's only
More than any other day it's only gravity Gravity
