

King for a Day

Fuel

Bled the line tonight fading as the lies lay weeping on the page nothing was saved falling at the sight photographs of white bright grin and sunny days and all was betrayed and i think i know the reason that your light would never stay and all that's left to show are memories now but i can truly say i was king for a day and i think i know
the reason that your light would never stay
and all that's left to show
are memories now but i can truly say i was king for a day chorus

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>