Say No More

Clay Walker

You're telling me, we gotta talk
That you can't go on, holdin' it inside
No it isn't, anybody's fault
I shouldn't blame myself, you know I triedYou thought it through, how you agonized
Though it took some time, now you know for sure
What we have really isn't what
You're looking forSay no more, baby I get the picture
Say no more, 'cause I'll never understand
How you fell out of love, but you spelled it out enough
I'll be okay and you'll be okay, please walk away and say no moreNo it really doesn't ease the pain
When you say you wish it had all worked out
And being sorry isn't gonna change
What I'm losing here what I'm feeling nowThere'll be nights when I toss and turn
With your hollow words ringing in my ears
I think I heard enough to hurt about
You made it clearSay no more, baby I get the picture
Say no more, 'cause I'll never understand
How you fell out of love, but you spelled it out enough
I'll be okay and you'll be okay, please walk away and say no moreSay no more, baby I get the picture
Say no more, 'cause I'll never understand
How you fell out of love, but you spelled it out enough
Yeah I'll be okay and you'll be okay, please walk away and say no moreSay no more
Say no more
Say no more
