

Wild Flowers

Mark Lanegan

I have to watch you come back to the river
Now it's all I can do
Will you still be convinced wild flowers?
Are waiting for you In my mind, I've done good things
And never cared why
And my mind is an open door, with nothing inside Looks like the hour is upon us
It's turnin' so cold
When everything said's either faded out
Or written in stone If you could find an easier road, you'd take it today
You could have taken me anywhere
You just take it away I have to watch you come back to the river
If it's all I can do
Will you still be convinced wild flowers?
Are waiting for you Have we ever done good things
And never cared why?
'Cause my mind is an open door, with nothing inside
