

Understanding in a Car Crash

Thursday

Splintered piece of glass falls in the seat of gets caught
These broken windows, open locks, reminders of the youth we lost
In trying so hard to look away from you we followed white lines to the sunset
I crash my car everyday the same way Time to let this pass
(the time it takes, the time it takes to let go)
Time runs through our veins
(it starts and stops and starts and stops again)
We don't stand a chance in this threadbare time
(the time it takes, the time it takes to let go)
Time to let this pass
(the time it takes, the time it takes to let go) Staring at the setting sun
No reason to come back again
The twilight world in blue and white
The needle and the damage done I don't want to feel this way forever
A dead letter marked return to sender The broken watch you gave me turns into a compass
It's hands still point to the same time 12:03, our last goodbye So push the seats back a little further
I can see the headlights coming
So push the seats back a little further
Roll the windows down and take a breath
I can see the headlights coming
They paint the world in red and broken glass Time to let this pass
(the time it takes, the time it takes to let go)
Time runs through our veins.
(it starts and stops and starts and stops again)
We don't stand a chance in this threadbare time
(the time it takes, the time it takes to let go)
Time to let this pass
(the time it takes, the time it takes to let go) Staring at the setting sun
No reason to come back again
The twilight world in blue and white
The needle and the damage done I don't want to feel this way forever
A dead letter marked return to sender The spinning hubcaps set the tempo for the music of a broken window the cameras on and the cameras click we open up the lens and can't stop Staring at the setting sun
No reason to come back again
The twilight world in blue and white
The needle and the damage done I don't want to feel this way forever
the lights are on and the cameras click we open up the lens to broken glass Staring at the setting sun

No reason to come back again
The twilight world in blue and white
The needle and the damage done i don't want to feel this way for every a dead letter marked return to sender (I'll never understand Understanding in a car crash)

Songwriters

KEELEY, ROBERT III / PAYNE, TIMOTHY / PEDULLA, STEVEN / RICKLY, GEOFFREY / RULE, THOMAS
Published by Lyrics © Another Victory Publishing

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>