Wait

Rains

Act as if no one sees your Deception You know it will ruin you Turn a blind eye there all misconceptions You take everyone for fools You try so hard but your fear of rejection means your gonna be the one to lose If you convince yourself, just convince yourself To wait for just a minute longer Hold off and it will only make you stronger And wait for just a moment longer We all are walking toward the fire Act as if no one sees your true colors You think where all under you Like a slap in the face Your dishonesty gathers around us and fools You try so hard but your fear of rejection means your gonna be the one to lose If you convince yourself, just convince yourself To wait for just a minute longer Hold off and it will only make you stronger And wait for just a moment longer We all are walking toward the fire

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/