Encounter

A-Dubya

I've waited for you at the airport today to hear what you wanted to say I felt you were there in every voice I heard I imagined it painless pleasant out thereBut now I know I was wrong
You still lie now that all is gone
It didn't burn what you recalled
I'm glad I didn't feel it at all
Maybe it's time to let things go
Maybe it's time to surrender
To take this plane
and fly away foreverAll that hate in your eyes is like a wave I can't defy You give your finger a sign of a never quiet anger After which all is left is cold a wing failing to foldBut now I know I was wrong
You still lie now that all is gone
It didn't burn what you recalled
I'm glad I didn't feel it at all
Maybe it's time to let things go
Maybe it's time to surrender
To take this plane
and fly away forever
