

Heart of Chrome

Eugene McGuinness

Got a number
Got a number scribbled down
Got me running
And jumping the rooftops now Where the slow-mo shows
The things a blink would miss
(The mo-pho glows)
Ringing in the abyss Oh
Dial me up, dial me up, dial me up
Dream me a rainbow Caught the thunder
Sprung from the colliding clouds
Got the dragon the swallowed the sun
(Spit it out) Where the slow-mo shows
The things a blink would miss
(The mo-pho glows)
Ringing in the abyss Oh
Dial me up, dial me up, dial me up
Dream me a rainbow
And I rust, and I rust, and I rust
With a heart of chrome Let me start at the ending
In the place your phantoms swim in
Can you be a friend to me
In the way you're a friend to him? And I don't know how
Or why a by the by
Should be a golden house
Where we arrive
So let's stop the pretending. Oh
Dial me up, dial me up, dial me up
Dream me a rainbow
And I rust, and I rust, and I rust
With a heart of chrome
