Andromeda

Paul Burnell

You are the night
And I am the day
In the 17th hour we meet
Whenever I descend in sunset

There you are following
My night so sweet
With the scent of life you fill me
I want to return this love

For it's always spring when you're near
Bringing the serenity of a pure white dove
Yes you do with your love
I am the moon

You are the sun
When daylight breaks soon darkness will come
It is in this cycle we become one
I am you are me a reflection

When looking I see myself
You are the night
And I am the day
Veil the sky you body

In a blanket of deep blue
So I can uncover undress and complete you
