Black Jack

Dude York

I heard life can find a way
A hopeless case opened every day
The world's greatest doctor in so much pain
Up for days and bent from strain, yeah

If you fear or feel a faith
If you find satisfaction from getting paid
Throw both of your hands up; you've just been made
Baby you were born different and meant to be that way

I relied on myself, neglected my own health
Too afraid to ask for help; tried to do it all by myself
Still believe in myself; my friends, my only wealth
As far as I can tell, nobody does it all by themselves

Listen to me
