

Everytime Boots

Julia Holter

I'll take my time here, there's no reason to rush
I'd even let the cattle ride away--I wouldn't blink an eye
No I wouldn't blink an eyeHe walks by me painting a freeway to go far
But I ride his motorcycle round and round him twenty times
I go nowhere twenty timesOh, every time I do put on boots
I feel the charge like I've a good thing to run to
But I only hear the rattlesnake winds
They blow dust and I'm helpless to fight backCan you bring me
A fresher perspective please?
Should I be a prouder conqueror
Just bathing in the light?Oh true it's brighter than Sky we left years ago
I'll take a photograph and pass it by my eyes
Everytime
I decamp so wearilyOh, every time I do put on boots
I feel the charge like I've a good thing to run to
But I only hear the rattlesnake winds
They blow dust and I'm helpless to fight back

Songwriters

JULIA HOLTERPublished by

Lyrics Â© DOMINO PUBLISHING COMPANY

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>