The Redemption Song

and on the day you die
you'll sit and smile and wonder why you never found the way, your whole life livin MIA.
too many false starts and broken hearts,
too many false starts, where do you start?
one day you'll say no more living in the MIA,
one day you'll see the joke's always been on you not me.
conspiracy conspiracy freedom cries,
now you're sitting starin through the eyes of a man that sites alone and dies, got no one left to call his own.
too many false starts and broken hearts,
too many false starts, where do you start?
one day you'll say no more livin in the MIA,
one day you'll see the joke's always been on you not me.
go dig your grave deeper.
and on the day you die,
i'll sit and smile and wonder why you never found the way, now there's no time left to say no more livin in the MIA.
one day you'll see you are your own enemy.
