Smooth Modulator

A Static Lullaby

Advisory - the following lyrics contain explicit language:

One day we'll crash this van wind up in your attic and with what we learned last night we can never take ourselves awayNo self control we are blown to the wind and we'll float From state to wretched state crematories for past relationships, we separate ourselvescan we push this any further, (Stand back) and watch your family fall apart, (Much more) Much more, then playing off of words but losing a piece of myselfI'm sure were all the same and we've found a way to associate ourselves for love of money and were glorified, we separate ourselvescan we push this any further, (stand back)
and watch your family fall apart, (Much more)
Much more, then playing off of words but losing a piece of myselfOur lovers drink alone tonight
