

Prey

Spoke

Nightfall, enthrall
I call her beauty to me
Whose ebon lidded eyes excite
Shadows to wander through meWhose kiss glittered with sleep
Is a thief come after dark
To steal away the leaden wreaths
From my cemetery heartThrilled to see the light
Bruise eddened, silhouetting
Murder sites
As dusk attends her son's blood weddingSpilt across the skies
In reefs of omen
Licking flames and pagan rites
The night awaits with baited thighsStart this artist darkness
Yearning now to start this
Burning as an artistTurning on the darkness
Dizzy looking up with pervertigo
A sewer deity of recrément
World belowI'll make you pray
I spy with wicked lips
The cream of mortal kindCommitting their sins
Their penitent skins
To the harems of my mindPrey thrilled to breathe tonight
The sultry air of graces
Passed in flight
Like birds of May with playful facesFills me with delight
Their crystal skirts
Spun from stars, worn tight
Wink of fists in wishful placesStart this artist darkness
Yearning now to start this
Burning as an artist
Turning on the darknessDizzy looking up with pervertigo
A sewer deity of recrément
World belowI'll make you pray
My whims like smoke in summertime
Writhe atop the bloomsCommitting their thin
White Catholic limbs
To the cloister in my roomYou see I need
To feed my dreams to order
To be agreedWith the beast in me

That bleeds their borders
Prey nightfall, in thrall
I call her beauty to me
Whose ebon idded eyes excite
Shadows to wander through me
Whose kiss glittered with sleep
Is a thief come after dark
To steal away the leaden wreaths
From my cemetery heart
