

Something Is Forming

Max Creek

Something is Forming (Scott Murawski)

Another wind blows through the time I spend in you
I save each second in my mind
I remember the intensity
Of every little thing we see
Rings around moonstone wine

And your eyes for an instant
See the sun in the distance
As it sparkles on a "new" horizon [1]
And I think of all the skies
That are drifting on by
Over you and I
Over you and I

Paradise nights that circle on back again
You know you found your way home
The light of your breath
The moonlit whispers
Embraces tender and warm

Staring at the stars
We wonder how far
The future is ????? (to get us fortune?)
And I think of all the skies
That have drifted on by
Over you and I
Over you and I

Something is forming on the edge of the universe
"Out of previous passages of time" [2]
Blink goes the eye
And a moment slips by
A candle burning in the fire

And a rain soaked wind
Starts to blow right in
And if flies right through my window
And I think of all the skies

That are drifting on by

Over you and I

Over you and I

Over you and I

Over you and I

And I think of all the skies

That have drifted on by

Over you and I

Over you and I

Alternately sung as :

[1] blue

[2] I can feel it in the corners of my mind

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlrics.com/>