Password, please use the password
It opens the door to my heart
Password, love is the password
Just say the words of love and come on inThis game of love we're playing
Is a game that's played by two
Two that seem so much in love
Still one cannot be trueWe played this game of love before
But this time I hope I'll win
'Cause I don't think that I can go
Through this game of love againPassword, please use the password
Just say the words of love and come on inPassword, please use the password
It opens the door to my heart
Password, love is the password
Just say the words of love and come on in
