

Vibrations

Django Django

I be the path through the jewel of the earth
Behind the trail of the some that is good
The sense above me so feed in the clear
Yeah there's no sign of no love that I hear
They climbing chokes as I climb even higher
I go to feelings that dances like fire
Chasing a treasure we're elusive and few
Just catching flashes of emerald and blue
Follow and one day you'll lead me right into the sun
Sun and the melodies fall from the skies
Crimson and golden vibrations in paradise
Colors dividing like brush strokes and vibes
What would I do if this love ever feel in to say
The thunder claps as I'm struck by my idol
I'm falling backwards I need your revival
So many patterns and shapes that came found me
I'm overcome by the love that's around me
We're carried higher can see all around us
It was the doctors but they likely found us
Across this landscape to cities and people
I never found that this love could be equal
Follow behind me I need you right into the sun
Sun and the melodies fall from the skies
Crimson and golden vibrations in paradise
Capturing quick and in hearts when you be
Choruses echoing calling me endlessly
