Surrender

Nine Lashes

I am tired
I am broken
Unsure at every turn
Though You told me where to go
I lost the road
Been a while since I have heard You
And doubts are creeping in
How can I continue walking on my own?I need to know you're here
With meCause I become a desperate soul
When Your unfailing love feels far
I need to know You won't let go
Through it all
You can have my broken heart
Everything that's left in me
And I will surrender
Surrender, surrenderYour promises feel distant
Though I've followed them this far
What is there left to hold on to
When You're gone?
And it's hard to keep on breathing
As the question tears my heart
What if I am left to fight this on my own?
