

Winter

Young Lyre

Drove my car into the night
Picking songs we're quite alike
Smoke it starts to sting our eyes
You took a step, kicked the wine
The moon is crooked on the side
Lantern ripped we built a fire
Our arms are at our sides
But I think your hand might fit in mineMy heart it races
When I think about her
My heart it racesIt races when I think about her
It races and this is good
It races when I think about her
It races, it racesNobody, nobody here besides us
NobodyThe cold it seeps in through our shoes
The time I have goes fast with you
Kick the cinders to the stream
I lost the winter in a dream
And we could stay out until the summer finds us
And we could stay out nobody here besides usMy heart it races
When I think about her
My heart it racesIt races when I think about her
I get the feeling that this is good
It races when I think about her
I get the feeling, I get the feelingIt races when I think about her
It races and this is good
It races when I think about her
It races, it racesWe could stay out until the summer finds us, we could stay out
We could stay out until the summer finds us, nobody here besides us
We could stay out until the summer finds us, we could stay out we could stay out
We could stay out until the summer finds us, nobody here besides us
