

Falling

Clay Aiken

Silence, long lost friend
You've come to me again
Night comes closing in
And the loneliness within I'm older, should be wiser
Still I never seem to learn
I'm closer than ever to the edge And I'm falling, I am falling
From the world I used to know
Been trying to hold on to something for so long
Now this never ending dream won't let go
I am falling Restless, I lie awake
And try to escape
Memories that never sleep
Are tasting bittersweet I hold on to forever
Still I'm stuck to yesterday
I'm closer than ever to the edge And I'm falling, I am falling
From the world I used to know
Been trying to hold on to something for so long
Now this never ending dream won't let go Come back and wake me up again
I can't face this world alone
In my dream I return and then
I am falling, I am falling I am falling, I am falling
From the world I used to know
Been trying to hold on to something for so long
Now this never ending dream won't let go I am falling, I am falling
From the world I used to know
Been trying to hold on to something for so long
Now this never ending dream won't let go
I am falling, I am falling
