They Might Be Giants

You're older than you've ever been
And now you're even older
And now you're even older
And now you're even older You're older than you've ever been
And now you're even older
And now you're older still Time is marching on
And time is still marching on This day will soon be at an end
And now it's even sooner
And now it's even sooner
And now it's even sooner This day will soon be at an end
And now it's even sooner
And now it's sooner still You're older than you've ever been
And now you're even older
And now you're even older
And now you're even older You're older than you've ever been
And now you're even older
And now you're older still
