

Mom And Dad

Middle Brother

Mama gave her camera to her little star
All she gets is pictures of hotels & bars
No Big Ben, No Statue of Liberty Loose women and one-night stands
Kinda wish I wasn't living in other people's hands
No control, no lack of shit for free But I was born in the wrong place
And at the wrong time
But I don't know why
I never spoke up, no I never spoke up Dad gave his son some good advice
But his son's in bed cuz he's been up all night
Even too tired for another shot and a beer Shaky days & incredible nights
Never going down without a fight
Looks like I'm all booked up next year But I was laying my soul down
For the wrong price
For the very first time of my life
My life
Oo, oh, Mama gave her camera to her little star
All she gets is pictures of hotels & bars
No Big Ben, No Statue of Liberty Loose women and one-night stands
I kinda wish I wasn't living in other people's hands
No control, no lack of shit for free But I was born in the wrong place
And at the wrong time
But I don't know why
I never spoke up, no I never spoke up

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>