Nothing

Jimmie's Chicken Shack

Did you ever really know
The word inside of you was changing
Wou will always find the time to defend your lies so true
And those time you will ignore my times of need
You are forgive still you make it clear
Not one thing that is happening to you
Always absorbed in the sights and Always one step to the right
How does it feel to feel nothing
How does it feel to feel nothing
How does it feel to feel nothing
When your world starts to rearrange
How does it feel to feel nothing
How does it feel to feel nothing
How does it feel to feel nothing
When your world starts to change
When your world starts to rearrangeYou will always find the words
To use my words against me
Are you powered by the line
Outline your heart so true
And though times you will ignore your times of need you are forgiven
See you make things if not one thing that is happening to youAlways absorbed in the sights
And always one step to the right
How does it feel to feel nothing
How does it feel to feel nothing
How does it feel to feel nothing
When your world starts to turn and change
How does it feel to feel nothing
How does it feel to feel nothing
How does it feel to feel nothing
When your world starts to spin
When your world starts to rearrangeHouse of people that will confort you
When you come in from the cold
And all you see is growing older
Mindless people will stop and say
Deny all to win, when will we begin

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/