

Vegas

The Evan Anthem

I swear she's imagined everything is alright.
Well, good luck, baby, satisfy your appetite.
I can't wait to see the ghost that's haunting your satellite. Your emotions fade, you resist the day
You can't remember what you're waiting for.
Your emotions fade, you resist the day
You can't remember what you're waiting for. I swear Vegas dreams in colors melted by the sun
The same sun that sent her into this delirium.
You're just not quite sure what this ghost is for. Ask if you're the first, not if you're the last one.
Cause I believe you know that Vegas breathes around you.
