Harmonium

Max Richter

It was still raining the following morning - a fine, almost invisible autumn rain unlike the previous night's downpour. You knew it was raining only because of the ripples on puddles and the sound of dripping from the eaves.

Lyrics submitted by Skyler.

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/