Over and Over

The Delfonics

I love you so
For you're the one I talk about
You don't believe

You think your love, I'll live withoutDo you understand, understand?

I tried over and over again

I tried over and over again

I tried over and over againYour friends all say

That I intend to break your heart

But why can't you see that

They'd be glad to see us partDo you understand, understand?

I tried over and over again

I tried over and over again

I tried over and over againUnderstand, understand

Over and over again

I tried over and over again

I tried over and over againI tried over and over again

I tried over and over again

I tried over and over againI tried over and over again

I tried over and over
