Love Her For That

Teddy Thompson

She's a feeler and I love her for that
No matter how long I will always come back
There's a bond that we share, it will always be there
She may be holding but I love her for thatThere are reasons that I'm out here so far
Blows are weaker from an ocean apart
And I guess I could run from my place in the sun
She wouldn't let me, and I love her for thatAnd oh you steal her
You love her and deceive her
She did nothing so wrong, so wrongVoice of angels, ended quick by his knife
Bonds are broken between a man and his wife
And the songs that are left to remind of the theft
She'll let you sing them, and I love her for that
