

Lucky To Be Here

Montgomery Gentry

I'm not one to whine or cry or wallow in self-pity
I take life in stride and smell the roses when I can
I am one of those lucky guys who's happy just to be here
Doin' what I love thankful that I am With all of life's temptations and this dream that I've been chasin'
It's a wonder I ain't long since dead and gone
I've cheated undertakers, I've dang near met my maker
I'm tellin' you all, I'm lucky to be here at all My hard head, the cigarettes and straight Kentucky bourbon
Have taken their toll and done their best to do me in Guitars and beer joint bars up and down the highway
If I could start all over I'd do it all again With all of life's temptations and this dream that I've been chasin'
It's a wonder I ain't long since dead and gone
I've cheated undertakers, I've dang near met my maker
I'm tellin' you all, I'm lucky to be here at all And when I die I'll thank the Good Lord face to face
For His patience and grace With all of life's temptations and this dream that I've been chasin'
It's a wonder I ain't long since dead and gone
I've cheated undertakers, I've dang near met my maker
I'm tellin' you all, I'm lucky to be here at all
Lucky to be here at all
