Window Song

Raining Jane

You were there in the air hanging by a thread
I knew there wasn't uch more time for you to be mine
But still I question this question,
What am I living for?
Oh sweet lingering potential, you keep me wanting more
But I'm trying to stick my head out
This slowly closing window of time
I'm takin' this opportunity
To make up my mind
Dreaming up potential
That I cannot define you whisper in the wind it's now or never Don't you wait another day to do those things you say
How do I know what I'm doing is right,
And what if I might be wrong?
Why am I on this stage when I can't even write a song?
But I'm trying to stick my head out
This slowly closing window of time
I'm takin' this opportunity
To make up my mind
Dreaming up potential
That I cannot define
Seeing beyond the confines
Of this life's design
I know what I want
And I ain't gonna stop
