You Will Find Me

The Thermals

I run in the darkest of tunnels and climb to the highest degrees
I was tored in the forest and drowned in the sea
I'm stuck in the cold and the blue
I keep looking over my shoulder for you
For you are mine and you will find me
You will find me, you will find me
You will follow me, always and ... me eventually
You will find me, you will find me
I'm loosing the sun, loosing my life
I struggle to see
First I dreamed to fall now I'm scared to sleep
I'm trapped on my back in the dark
I feel you so close though I know you're still far
For you are mine and you will find me
You will find me, you will find me
You will find me, scared and alone
Weeding in sour, bleeding you so
Buried alive, battered and bruised
Waiting for you
You will find me, you will find me
You will follow me, always and ... me eventually
You will find me, you will find me
You will crawl on my trail and the snow and my hell
When the dirt in the moment of bree
Oh, you will find me, you will find me
You will find me, hey.
