Fredereek Hernando

One In A Million

Aaaaaaaah
Aaaaaaaah

Three hundred people turned out to see him go (go)
Fredereek Hernando always the [lamb*] to show (show)
How he died nobody really cared (cared)
The drinks were free, Fredereek had always shared (shared)

But he's a dead man now
But he's a dead man now

Within the shadows a smile upon her face (face)
An absent fortune, Fredereek's sister Grace (grace)
A strange expression beneath her veil of black (black)
A one way ticket, he won't be coming back (back)

'Cause he's a dead man now
'Cause he's a dead man now

The party's over Fredereek is dead and gone (gone)
And ten years after his memory lingers on (on)
By some dysfunction somebody lost the will (will)
And at the graveyard Grace is looking still

It's oh so sad, sad, sad
It's oh so sad, sad
