Breathing Life

Salvador

You paint the morning with the motion of Your hand
You move the water make and ocean from dry land
And everything that lives in Heaven and on Earth
You have created from the dawn of every birthBreathing life
Breathing life
Breathing life
Breathing lifeYou raised the mountains up to reach and touch the sky
You forged the depth of pain and crossed the river wide
You built a bridge that reached from heaven down to me
And though I'm unworthy, once a captive now I'm freeBreathing life
Breathing life
Breathing life
Breathing lifeBreathe life, oh, breathe life into me
And let Your fire consume meBreathing life
Breathing life
Breathing life
Breathing life
