Finale

Fishboy

I didn't know what I was doin, I didn't know if I could do it noall the wrinkles upon my body tell me its time for a grand finale they're always on the, on the, money a single wrinkle is holdin steady, tells me we may not be ready but we can't wait any longerand the time that got away is the time that won't come back you can mourn your wasted days or you can live for the days that have not passed away quite yetI didn't know what I was doin, I didn't know if I could do it no and everything that I had gathered, in the end it didn't matter, no and the time that slipped away is the time you wont get back
you can mourn your wasted days or you can live for the days that have not passed away quite yet
