All Of Your Acts[Mc Chaos Consultant wanted to be very clear. "Well, those are the consoles allowing you to interact with your human, and everyone of you owns the experience needed to run them. All infinite sort of fantasy you may need in order to create scenes of the dreams will be supplied to you from the Official's Dream's warehouses of the Kingdom Via Teletransporter. The transporter is placed in each console. don't fear, you won't be limited because there is a complete warehouse for every possible and impossible fantasy, and each fantasy item has infinite instances too, to preserve the uniqueness of each dream! Now, my main concern is that you all keep in mind the following rules: 1 - You shall live only once. Born when your owner starts dreaming and die when he awakes; 2 - In your short life, you can communicate together. However you must not allow your owners to share the fantasies of other dreamers; 3 - You must never show yourselves as human entities to your owners. Your mission is to guide your owners, create their dreams and protect them without revealing yourself or the presence of this kingdom in any way. You know that for each continent there is a Twin Spirits' Land. Mc Chaos King is personally responsible for your arrival to the European dream kingdom. There are severe punishments for the King if their Twin Spirits breaks these rules. But i'm sure that you won't let this happen to him. Tonight King Wild Tribe will be visiting this place, since Mc Chaos promised him a meeting in order to discuss some very important issues. I will not be patrolling here for a while. May i put my trust upon you. Will you be loyal to King Mc Chaos?" A loud agreement scream of that multitude raised from the land.][Storyteller]

Genius, sitting in his armchair, was looking at his travel mate who was starting to work. He was a real Twin Spirit! That was the difference between them. Genius in fact was staring at those controls with the utmost ignorance about how to deal with them]
