Farewell

Avantasia

Days had come, winters had gone And we gambled like siblings in paradise I was your knight, holding you tight As a brother when I saw your crying eyes Time went by and we had to say goodbyeStaring up to the clouds above, children so little and sad Hoping the saints could help one day, lead us together again Holding the key to the alley of dreams still in handsTime telling me to say farewell But I knew that I would fight hell and I know we will Go for another time, we can see for another time We'll be free for no more farewellTime telling me to say farewell But I knew that I would fight hell and I know we will Go for another time, we can see for another time We'll be free for no more farewellStepbrother tell me where have you been? When they brought me to this godforsaken place Sign of the cross, they took me away For healing with herbs by the way of grace Now I wait for the day to feed the flames I have been caught in a cage of despair My heart as a monk's cell so empty and bare No holy water can make me forget you againTime telling me to say farewell But I knew that I would fight hell and I know we will Go for another time, we can see for another time We'll be free for no more farewellTime telling me to say farewell But I knew that I would fight hell and I know we will Go for another time, we can see for another time We'll be free for no more farewellTime telling me to say farewell But I knew that I would fight hell and I know we will Go for another time, we can see for another time We'll be free for no more farewellTime telling me to say farewell But I knew that I would fight hell and I know we will Go for another time, we can see for another time We'll be free for no more farewellTime telling me to say farewell But I knew that I would fight hell and I know we will Go for another time, we can see for another time We'll be free for no more farewellTime telling me to say farewell But I knew that I would fight hell and I know we will Go for another time, we can see for another time We'll be free for no more farewellTime telling me to say farewell

> But I knew that I would fight hell and I know we will Go for another time, we can see for another time

We'll be free for no more farewellTime telling me to say farewell
But I knew that I would fight hell and I know we will Go for another time, we can see for another time
We'll be free for no more farewellTime telling me to say farewell

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/