

The Affair

Rico Love

Funny how strangers, can turn into way more
I'm waking up late night, calling ya name
First time that I saw you, I wanted to say more
I was speechless, but when you left I had so much to say
Our time has come to bid farewell

Let's hold on to these moments, for how long, time only tells
Wondering where will you be this time next year

Hoping it will be with me right here
I love you like, summertime, summer nights, summer days

It's breaking this heart of mine, whenever you go away
I love you like, summertime, summer nights, summer days

It's breaking this heart of mine, whenever you go away

Beach house in the Hamptons, the month of July

On the patio, bumping Mumford & Sons getting high

We got slightly acquainted

She unfamiliar with entertainers that's awesome ain't it?

Felt so far from famous, I felt more courageous

Them other brauds I dated, made me think all brauds were jaded, trippy right?

Is this a summer fling, or an every summer thing

Some many places she can be, why she up under me

Start to panic when I think about our separation

Its so romantic, but I think we got sleep deprivation

I learned your body, and I'm grateful for my education

Graduated straight A's, Damn this was the best vacation

Wondering where will you be this time next year

Turn the lights on, hoping it will be with me right here
