Radio

Steve Hillage

listening to the radio inspiration starts to flow you tune into the radio you like the feeling of letting go deep inside your heart you pick up the right station shining through the layers of static in your brain you always know it when you're tuned into the good one it's pure and clear so when the media barons program their pollution your new transmissions will just neutralize their rays I see it radiating with the radio of freedom and linking up our hearts and minds again
listening to the radio
information starts to flow a biological radio something new begins to grow a living crystal radio a powering your dynamo ya tune up in a radio
