

Setting Sun

Hope for the Dying

We have but one life left to live just one chance to take barely just one breath to breatheburdened with a heavy load often persuaded by all of our fear to fail tell me does it ever endWe were not created for this Wandering without a purpose selfish life without a meaning never ends only repeatingSo where does it end Do we just bury our dead in the ground
And watch the memories degrade Where does it endThe sun is setting on our days numbered well before our fate
The only tragedy at hand
Wasting what chance we getI won't admit defeat this time Won't give in to selfish lies I'll feed the flame that burns inside
The flame that burns insideThe sun is going down dead are buried 6ft in the ground
wasting what little chance we getThe sun is setting now No way to fight or fleeThe light is fading out
Is darkness where you'll beIs darkness where you'll beStand beside us, We'll be the voice of tomorrow Stand, make a difference
Our voices heard through all ages
