

So They Say

The James Hunter Six

They say the heart won't grieve what the eye can't see

But you never can deceive a memory.

They say that out of sight is out of mind

But since you've gone I might go out of mine.

But just how long can things go on this way?

Time will tell what no one else will say.

They say that life is short and love is blind

But given time there's no one it can't find

Because if there's a will, there's a way

But I'll be waiting still, say what they may.

Ummmmm

[Instrumental]

Just how long can things go on this way?

Time will tell what no one else will say

They say that life is short and love is blind

But given time there's no one it can't find.

Because if there's a will, there's a way

And I'll be waiting still, say what they may

Whoahhuuummm
