

Everyday Now

Texas

I just woke up I can see it now
It's never been this close before
Tried to tell myself I didn't care Crying out why am I here?
There's no point in me hiding
And only now I can see Everyday now, everyday now
The blame's gonna fall on me Something deep inside said move away
Try to leave what's good behind
And I still ask myself why I let it go All those years we wasted time
There's no point in me hiding
And only now I can see Everyday now, everyday now
The blame's gonna fall on me Everyday now, everyday now
The blame's gonna fall on me 'Cause I never told you
That I could never live without it
Now the blame's on me 'Cause I never told you
That I could never live without it
Now the blame's on me
And you will hear me say Everyday now, everyday now
The blame's gonna fall on me

...

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>