Parting Ways

Pearl Jam

Behind her eyes there's curtains and they are closed to hind the flames remainsShe know's there future's burning but she can smile just the sameAnd though her mood is fine today There's a fear they'll soon be parting waysStanding like a statue a chin of stone a heart of clay heyAnd though he's to big a man to say there's a fear they'll soon be parting waysDrifting away... Drifting away... Drifting away... Drifting away...
Drifting away...
Drifting away... Drifting away... Drifting away... Drifting away... Drifting away...
