You Should

Joe Purdy

You and Jesus were close, yeah, at least as far as he knows. And you used to sell tickets, invite all your friends, saying "walk on that water again". Yeah, walk on that water again.And I'm so good at telling the truth, yeah, unless I don't tell you nothing at all.
Instead of running out scared ain't no kind of excuse. I know it was hard, but you still should have called. I know it was hard, but you still should have called.It's good and you should. And I know you could if only you would.
And it's good and you know you should. And I know you could if only you would.You wanted so bad for the rain, yeah, but I wasn't king of those things. So I held up the hose as you stripped off your clothes and danced naked on the tips of your toes. You d-d-danced naked on the tips of your toes.It's good and you should. And I know you could if only you would.
And it's good and you know you should. And I know you could if only you would.
[repeat]

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/