White Cluster

Opeth

Still it came passing by
The pieces weaved together rose the sun
And fooled me with another day
The knocking message called for my lifeSealed the spell of my scrawny body
Soil to skin, my next of kin
Damp air grasped, stole the words
And greeted me with a hissThis is forgiveness, so I know
Once I repent, I seal the lid
I slither for you and I'm dyin'
I find trust in hateThey wear white for me
Seemingly jaded and lost
I forge myself into your dreams
And here I am your lifeHangman, clutching at his tools
I will come for youThey wear white for me
Seemingly jaded and lost
I forge myself into your dreams
And here I am your lifeThe noose is tied
Murmur through the crowd
Plunging into anywhere
But hereCloak-captured sighs of relief
As the primal touch brought me back
And the last sight, I did see is still here
Beckoning right behind me
